

Threat Research Agent

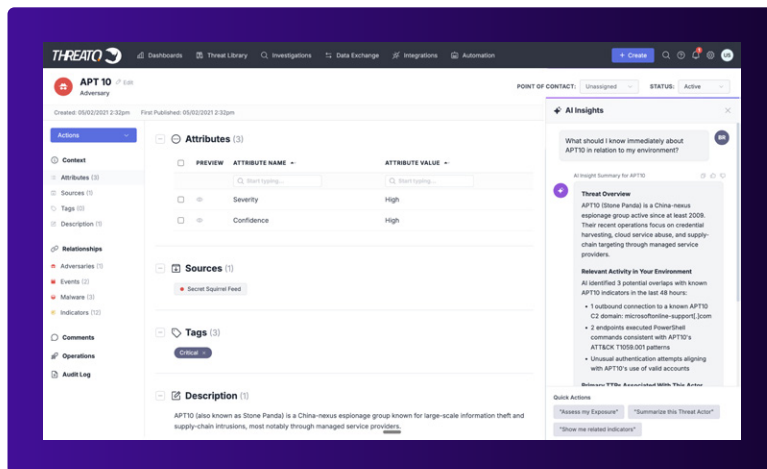

TRANSFORM THREAT DATA INTO DECISION-READY INTELLIGENCE

The Securonix Threat Research Agent is part of the ThreatQ (ThreatQuotient) platform, extending its threat intelligence capabilities with AI-driven analysis and research. Built to operate directly on the ThreatQ dataset, it enables teams to explore, analyze, and transform intelligence into actionable insights across the organization.

Security teams are under constant pressure to explain what is happening, why it matters, and what actions to take next. Manual threat research and reporting slow this process, consuming valuable analyst time and delaying critical decisions.

The Securonix Threat Research Agent turns detections, threat intelligence, and investigation data into clear, role-specific intelligence. By combining internal signals, external intelligence, and case context, it delivers concise, decision-ready insights in minutes instead of hours.

AI-Powered Threat Briefing Creation

Automatically generates structured, role-specific threat summaries with clear context, supporting evidence, and actionable insights.

Persona-Aligned Intelligence

Tailors outputs for CISOs, SOC leaders, and analysts by adjusting depth, language, and structure, ensuring every stakeholder receives relevant and actionable information.

Unified Threat Intelligence View

Correlates Securonix detections, investigations, and integrated external intelligence sources to provide a comprehensive understanding of threats across environments.

Transparent and Explainable Insights

Delivers fully traceable summaries with source attribution, enabling teams to validate findings and act with confidence.

Seamless Distribution Across Workflows

Shares intelligence through Securonix and supported communication channels aligned with executive, operational, and analyst workflows.

From Data to Decisions in Minutes

Accelerated Decision-Making

Reduce threat research and reporting time from hours to minutes, enabling faster response to emerging threats.

Clear Communication Across Teams

Translate technical detections into business-aligned narratives and operational guidance tailored to each audience.

Trusted, Consistent Intelligence

Provide explainable, source-linked insights that connect technical findings to business risk and compliance priorities.

Increased Analyst Efficiency

Reduce manual reporting effort by up to 70%, allowing analysts to focus on investigation, response, and proactive defense.

Stronger Executive Confidence

Equip leadership with clear, risk-aligned intelligence to support informed decisions and ongoing security posture reporting.
